

Hairstop Clinic

Hair removal.

All those hours plucking, lathering and shaving or dreading your next wax are a waste.

WE HATE TO break it to you, but you are often just as hairy a few days later. Permanent hair reduction isn't just for Hollywood starlets or elite athletes anymore. It's simple, affordable – and if you choose the right team – it really works.

“The real difference is this - at Hairstop our results are guaranteed,” says hair removal specialist Wendy Gilbert-Grey.

It's hard to imagine anyone more qualified to make that claim. With 15 years of experience behind her, and a wall packed with international accreditation and commendations, Wendy was trained to rigorous US standards as an electrologist and cosmetologist. In other words, she is seriously focused on your follicles, and has the expertise to solve your hair problems – forever!

You might have been promised permanent results before, but Hairstop is the unrivalled leader in the field, with the confidence to assure you of the outcome. The difference? Well, we all know technology goes out of date as quickly as it is released (just ask anyone who is still lugging around an early iPod or chunky mobile phone!), so a lot of operators out there are putting untrained staff to work on out of date equipment – meaning patchy, imprecise results at best – and pain and scarring at worst.

At Hairstop Wendy has invested in state-of-the-art equipment and is devoted to training herself and her staff, so they're constantly on top of new advances. Only the latest technology, the most advanced hair removal system to date, is used. The team are also trained in other methods of hair removal and can develop the best plan for you depending on your hair type, colouring and the area to be treated.

Conveniently located in Edgecliff, in Sydney's eastern suburbs, Hairstop combines world-class technology with true professionals at the helm, giving you a guaranteed recipe for achieving flawless, hair-free skin!
